

Published based on Amsterdam: The Place That Provides A Little Something For Absolutely Everyone

Amsterdam: The Place That Provides A Little Something For Absolutely Everyone

When planning your vacation, there are two decisions that need to be made up front. First, what will be the dates of your travel and, second, what will your destination be? You may want to seriously consider a trip to Amsterdam. Amsterdam finds its home within the Netherlands and has quite a world wide reputation for being a city where almost anything goes. If you seek culture supplied within an exciting city, you may want to consider a visit. Whether you plan to stay for a day or for weeks, this location can accommodate a romantic encounter or provide opportunity for an historical education. Please remember, however, to travel to Amsterdam, you must first have a valid passport so a visit to your local U S passport office would be a good idea and the sooner, the better.

As you may remember, Anne Frank wrote her famous diary in an attic in the city of Amsterdam. The history involving World War II as it relates to events in Amsterdam is fascinating and your investigation of these events can keep you busy for days. The Huis is where Anne Frank and her family lived for two years during the war while hiding from the Nazis and will give the visitor a spell bounding look into what life was like during those years. The story she penned has inspired people all over the world and had been produced in both a book and movie. To experience this life changing site, you will have to have a passport so if your USA passport is damaged or has expired, simply go online and contact a passport agency and renewing it will be simple and stress free.

Do you want to explore Amsterdam? You would be wise to get one of the locals to give you some tips and one of the first tips they would give you is to see this amazing city on a bicycle tour. It wont take you long to realize the bicycles are the main form of transportation used with the city which alerts you to the fact that it is a city small enough to explore upon the seat of a bicycle. The small streets and absence of parking would make getting around by car a nightmare so get out into the fresh air and get some exercise while soaking up the culture. But don't let the size fool you. There are beautiful spots in Amsterdam accessible only by bicycle or on foot so be prepared for adventure and surprise.

Amsterdam is a hub of artistic talent. Museums line the streets, including the famous Van Gogh museum. This museum houses the largest collection of masterpieces by Van Gogh in the world. Over 200 beautiful canvases and other pieces created by one of the most famous artists in the world populate the museum. In addition to the Van Gogh museum, 50 other museums are located in Amsterdam. De Nieuwe Kerk in Amsterdam is located inside a spectacular church. If you have a jewelry lover in your party, then you should visit the Diamond Museum.

A plethora of beautiful parks and gardens make Amsterdam a great place to just simply take a walk. More than thirty parks are able to be visited in Amsterdam, including the Vondelpark, which is famous for its romantic atmosphere. Beautiful flowers, shady trees, and lush grass make Amsterdam's parks a great place to have a picnic, do some people watching, or just take a stroll.

A vacation to Amsterdam would certainly not be considered an ordinary vacation. Whether you are seeking artistic enrichment, beautiful landscape or a walk on the wild side, consider Amsterdam. Before you begin your plans, your first order of business is to be sure your passport is in good condition. If your pass port is damaged, you will need to locate a American passport office and begin the process of attaining a new one and, once in hand, you can go about the business of making memories in the astonishing city of Amsterdam.

You can also find this article published on Amsterdam: The Place That Provides A Little Something For Absolutely Everyone, and on the tag pages hiding from the nazis, Museum, passport agency, Place, U S passport office, Vacation.