

Published based on Mexican Riviera Cruises - Great Option For Your Next Holiday Vacation

Mexican Riviera Cruises - Great Option For Your Next Holiday Vacation

There is one particular cruising vacation destination which due to its proximity, low-cost offers and exciting coastal stops is worth considering for any cruise lover. It is, of course, Mexico, and the particular route is along the Pacific coast of this wonderful area. Another name for this region of the world is Mexican Riviera. Holiday cruise trips here are generally remembered for their incredible landscapes, a variety of fauna and a large number of historic and national monuments and places of interest. Mexican Riviera cruises will amaze not only the fans of nature but if you are looking for care-free and enjoyable holiday on the beach front or seeking thrilling adventures - you won't be dissatisfied with your decision.

Cruises to Mexican Riviera usually start either in San Diego or Los Angeles. In the event you haven't been there before here's an excellent idea for you: show up a few days sooner or extend your trip by a few days at the conclusion of the cruise and spend some time in either one of these world-class California cities. And there is no shortage of things to see. San Diego has its own well-known zoo, sea world and historic Gaslamp Quarter. After that you can also unwind in Balboa Park or Japanese Tea Garden. Los Angeles, naturally, is the heart of the motion picture industry. Visit Hollywood to see the stars of famous actors on the Walk of Fame. There is also well-known Venice beach and Santa Monica.

So, on to the actual route and several of the locations that you will experience.

Acapulco is a port town on the Pacific Ocean. Prominent Costa Miguel Aleman Boulevard features a many retail shops eateries, bars, discos and other entertainment venues. Among significant tourist destinations are the cultural center and a museum of history.

La Paz is located at the bottom of the California Peninsula that is known for rugged desert and scenic shoreline. There is a lot of accommodation and entertainment options. Additionally it is a great place for those who prefer an energetic type of a vacation.

Puerto Vallarta is an idyllic area on the coastline of Mexican Riviera. It is a good place for a tranquil getaway. The majority of the beaches are located in the north section of the town, the south area boasts a lot of small coves and lagoons and is great for scuba diving and snorkeling.

Ensenada borders the desert, mountain ranges and the Pacific Ocean. It was established in the 17th century by Spanish missionaries. These days it is a busy port.

Mazatlan is located where the Pacific Ocean borders the Sea of Cortez. There are lots of beaches, bars and dining establishments. The neighboring islands are perfect for sporting activities.

The perfect time of the year for Mexican Riviera cruises is from November to May.

You can also find this article published on Mexican Riviera Cruises - Great Option For Your Next Holiday Vacation , and on the tag pages japanese tea garden, Mexican Riviera cruises, miguel aleman.