Packing Your Bags for an Amazing Adventure Travel

Are you tired of spending all of your vacation time visiting family? Are you fed up with having to sit on a couch and watch television with your parents because they would have made you feel bad about choosing something else for your vacation time? It can be hard to get over those guilty feelings. Don't you want to have fun on your vacation? Why not go off on an adventure the next time you decide to take a vacation? Heck, you might even be able to fit in weekend adventure treks and still have time to spend with your parents looking through the old photos (again). The following are great adventure travels to try out.

If you get a thrill from being out in nature and using your survival skills to live off the land, why not participate in an Australian Walkabout? These have gained popularity since one of the main characters from the television show Lost attempted to go on one. The whole idea of an Australian Walkabout is for you and your fellow adventuring friends go out into the Australian Outback with a guide. While you are on your walkabout, you live entirely off the land. You gather your own food, construct your own shelter from the available materials and take on any "elements" that might come your way (weather, wild animals, etc). It can be described as extreme camping and can be very satisfying.

If you're an enthusiast of extreme adventure travels, why not try out a hot air balloon trip someplace? How about doing some white water rafting? Have you thought about trying Bungee jumping? Some people get their kicks by going sky diving. Undoubtedly, you can find places to do this in many towns. When extreme adventure vacationing becomes an option, skydiving over the Grand Canyon becomes a possibility. Explore the Australian outback from high above, in the sky – by taking a hot air balloon ride. When you make the choice to go to the extremes, the entire world is your playing field. Many extreme vacationers are attracted to India, for paragliding. Why not give that a whirl?

Try out a Llama Trek! Anybody can ride a horse. Hurricane Creek Llama Treks in Oregon are a great way to have some wacky adventure travels without having to leave the country. On these treks you bring your own camping equipment and are solely responsible for all setting up, taking down, packing and unpacking. These trips are great because you can choose to ride your llama along in the Oregon wilderness or you can walk on your own two feet and lead your llama with you. How many other times in your life will you be able to ride llamas?

Adventure travels do not have to be expensive (though they can run on the high end sometimes). These vacations do not have to take a lot of time. Some only last a day or two! Why would you choose to let yourself sit around feeling bored when you could choose to spend your vacation having fun and adventures? There are lots of different adventure travel tours to take; the hardest part of your whole vacation will be deciding what you want to do and where you want to go. Have some fun!

Whether or not you consider yourself a traveler or a vacationer, will you travel totally without having a camera? My camera is with me on all of my trips. Getting photographs and reliving the adventures via them later on gives me a lot of enjoyment, as does sharing my best photos on my weblog, Facebook, in slideshows or even prints. For a beautiful and sharp pictures, I'd propose you to make use of Digital SLR camera like Canon 7d or Nikon d7000. Find out which one is perfect for you from Canon 7d Vs Nikon d7000 posting at <http://canon50mm12.net/canon-7d-vs-nikon-d7000/>.
