

Published based on Should Restaurant Toilets Always Be Clean

Should Restaurant Toilets Always Be Clean

So many people out there are using dirty bathrooms all of the time which I guess is okay but there is a stage where it just goes a little bit too far and people are really not going to be using it because the bathroom is filthy. So what do you do if you step into a restaurant and see one of those bathroom suites looking very bad indeed?

Well once you have or havent been the very first thing I would actually do is to go and make a complaint to the manager. If you are in a restaurant then you are essentially paying for the meal, drinks and services that they should be providing you and it just so happens that a very clean bathroom is part of this service.

If, by the next time you come into the restaurant to eat, the situation has not been improve upon at all then make sure you take the complaint to a higher authority.. It is a great shame when one of your favourite restaurants cannot even do anything to look after the bathroom their guests use.

The worst thing is that if you are having a meal and you need to use the toilet and the toilet is looking terrible you are simply not going to be able to go which in turn will most certainly ruin your ability to relax and enjoy the meal and drinks.

It doesnt stop here as many bars and clubs are the same, they should be cleaned during the night and if you go into a bar toilet near the end of the night you will most certainly not use the toilet unless you are drunk because it really is disgusting.

Sometimes it all it takes is replacing those toilet seats and bath taps.

You can also find this article published on Should Restaurant Toilets Always Be Clean, and on the tag pages bath taps, bathroom suites, Restaurant, time, toilet, toilet seats.