What Weather to Expect in Benidorm

Benidorm weather is usually good all the year round and is one of the key factors in attracting millions of visitors each year. Situated next to the Mediterranean, Benidorm is the number one tourist destination of the famous Costa Blanca in Spain. Why exactly is Benidorms weather so good?

If you want almost guaranteed sunny and hot weather then Benidorm in June, July and August is the place to take your summer vacation and holiday.

Now you are interested in coming to Benidorm we look at some things to do and see. You can fly into Alicante airport as Benidorm does not have its own airport and arrange the short transfer over to Benidorm.

One excursion would be the completely different town of Villajoyosa to the south, a genuine fishing town.

In contrast to high-rise Benidorm, charming Altea is only about 10 kilometres north. Benidorm has the two main beaches of Playa Levante and Playa Poniente but there is a lot more to do than lie on the beach all day.

Benidorm is known for its theme parks, not just one but five! The main theme park in Benidorm is called Terra Mitica which has many rides with the theme being rides based on the Ancient World, this is open most of the year-round but is best in summer in the hot Mediterranean sun. Close to Terra Mitica is another park called Terra Natura which is open all year round.

Terra Natura is a fun day out for the kids especially, with a number of different animals to be seen. Within the Terra Natura park is a water park known as Aqua Natura which is just open during the summer months. Some of the rides are strictly for adults only and this is a much smaller water park than Aqualandia.

In the Rincon de Loix area of Benidorm are two other theme parks. Mundomar is Spains answer to Floridas famous SeaWorld and Aqualandia is a fantastic water park. Be careful to wear sunscreen as most of the attractions are out in the open air. Clearly not all of the theme parks are open all the year round so do check before you visit.

You can escape the cold winter weather in Northern Europe and be walking the promenade in T-shirt and jeans on many days in January and February. You cant predict the weather, even in Spain it does rain but there are 320 days a year with sunshine.

Benidorm is famous for its nightlife including comedians, shows, bands and dancing. There are thousands of rooms to stay in be it luxury hotels or cheap apartments. To conclude, Benidorm is a good Spanish resort, with a good climate and if you like a noisy, busy holiday you will love it here.
